

Please don't let the radio conglomerates stifle competition. Satellite radio is the best thing to come down the tube since FM Stereo signals. Every time a new kid comes on the block, the old crew always tries to hold them back. This only serves to stifle innovation and progress.

The XM Radio that I put in my car is absolutely the best thing I have ever invested in. The news, weather, and traffic give me as a consumer what I need to know WHEN I want to know it. On my schedule not some "canned" radio station's schedule. Local radio had gotten so useless - I stopped listening to it.

Please do the American Thing and keep competition open.

Thank You, Steve Smith
